Descrizione

Starting from Colle della Cialmetta (1305 m) you descend along footpath n. 204 to Rangiroldo (1077 m), an ancient refuge for partisan groups. The village was strongly hit during the Second World War. On alternating stretches of road you continue up to Monti di Mezzenile (1096 m) and then, on path n. 204C walking half-coast in semicircle, and after having crossed a series of ridges among woods, you reach the Sumiana Lakes (1192 m). From here, taking track n. 201 in descent, always through wooded slopes and crossing some river you reach the Chapel of Giardino (1059 m), where is a forest track. Turning sharply North, initially you keep the dirt road on track n. 206, and then continue going down through the woods and crossing pretty villages. You will arrive to the Chapel of the Consolata (1069 m), which is an equipped point for rest, and from which it is possible to go down towards the village Mezzenile (645 m) and its accommodation facilities. For those who prefer to stay totally within the natural environment, it is possible to go up along the trail n. 205, that alternates path and dirt road, to Alpe Belvedere (1452 m), suitable stage point in private structures.
